

More pictures while crossing the USA....

It was a great time with Richard while crossing the USA in less than 7 days. We've met wonderful people. The American drivers are hard working people, open minded, friendly and customer orientated. They like their trucks and are proud of their job.

A lot of them are woman. They are respected in their job by everybody. They do the same work as their male counterparts. Here are some more pictures.

The quality of the photos sometimes isn't that great due to the fact that I have to take snapshots out of the window while driving. The US trucks easily go 140 km/h, normally we drive about 120 km/h. A radar yammer helped us from being punished, but I better do not tell that part of the story... okay? And the window screen of our truck is often dirty. Of course I could not clean it before taken pictures. Sorry for that, guys, but it is a commercial truck and time is money....
